CHICAGO YOUTH TAKEN ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Thomas Coyle Arrested After Attacking Fox Lake Woman.

Thomas Coyle, 30 years old Chicago youth, is in the county jail at Waukegan where he was taken Tuesday night after being arrested by Constable Hamlin, of Lake Villa, after having robbed and attacked Mrs. Andrew Larson, 55 year old Fox Lake woman.

Within a few minutes after the brutal attack had been made on Mrs. Larson and the woman had been robbed and locked in a lavatory in a filling station. Constable Hamlin had arrested the youth, who later confessed his guilt to State's Attorney Smith. He gave his name as Thomas Coyle, 1235 South Wabash avenue, Chicago.

In order to get out of the locked room, it was necessary for Mrs. Larson, who was stripped of all her clothing except her shoes, to leap from a window to the ground, a distance of about six feet. She ran to the nearest home, Ralph Effinger's place, about a half block away and hysterically told of what had happened to her and the authorities of all towns in that locality and also Sheriff Lawrence A. Doolittle were notified by Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Rushmore of the Fox Lake telephone exchange.

Dr. Rollins, of Fox Lake, was called to attend Mrs. Larson who was hysterical for several hours from the shock of her experience.

Posse Organized.

A posse of fully 100 men and women, most of them armed was organized within a few minutes and search started for the assailant of Mrs. Larson. Constable Hamlin lost no time in getting into action, being out on the road searching for the man within two minutes after notification of the crime.

While driving between 60 and 70 miles an hour, Constable Hamlin passed a youth who appeared to answer a description of the one as possible and turned back. In the meantime Coyle jumped over a fence and was sighted by Hamlin running through a field.

After Hamlin had fired a few shots into the air, Coyle stopped running and was taken into custody. Mrs. Larson identified the youth as her assailant.

State's Attorney Smith, Wednesday preferred charges of rape and robbery against Coyle and he was placed under $20,000 bonds to await hearing of the case on Feb. 18.

Proposed Law Would Provide Game Preserves

Federated Sportsmen Backing Bill to Have State Ownership of Hunting Grounds.

Springfield Feb. 8, 1927: Hon. Robert Scholes, Speaker of the House of Representatives, in discussing pending game and fish legislation, today stated that the proposed bond issue for the purchase of public shooting and fishing grounds and preserves is one of the most popular measures presented in recent years. House bill No. 14, introduced by Rep. Thomas Curran, of Chicago, chairman of the appropriation committee, provides for the issuance of $28,000,000 of 4 per cent bonds. Proceeds of these bonds are to be used for the purchase of land for public shooting and fishing grounds and preserves. These lands are also to be open for use by the general public for camping, boating, swimming, hiking and similar recreations. Interest and retirement of principal will be paid by revenue of the Department of Conservation without direct taxation. This bill is now before the Fish and Game committee. Speaker Scholes explained that he has been making speeches on conservation in many sections of the state, at meetings of sportsmen and civic clubs. The mention of the proposed bond issue, which is to be paid by revenue of the Department of Conservation, has invariably been greeted by tremendous applause and pledges of hearty support. No increase in fees for resident

Farmers Are Boosting Local Dairy Project

The Antioch Farmers' Dairy Company, Inc., will be a reality in the near future. It was learned following a meeting Tuesday of dairymen who met with committee members at the Danish Hall to discuss the matter of organization.

The charter for the new company will be received in a few days, and the property of the Broxham Co. will be taken over before the expiration of the option Feb. 17, according to committee members who are interested in the home market for dairymen. Much of the $15,000 capital stock has already been subscribed. To make the details of the entire transaction clear in the minds of all concerned, it is very probable that legal advice will be sought before the final steps are taken in the project.

Dr. Card Tells of University's Work at Banquet Friday

Work to Be Done Here is Outlined by Pres. C. L. Kutil.

A large gathering of poultrymen, businessmen and others interested, were served a fine chicken dinner by the Antioch Woman's club on last Friday evening at the Antioch Township high school auditorium.

After the splendid meal Mr. Alec Hughes, toastmaster, took the meeting in charge and called on many of the local men for short talks.

We must say that Alec is a credit to his new vocation. He should be called on more often to fill such positions.

Dr. Card, who stayed over from the afternoon meeting of the Farmers' Institute, was the principal speaker. He told of the magnitude of the poultry industry in Illinois and of the work the University is doing in its poultry department. Their work on poultry diseases and nutrition is unsurpassed.

The newest work is that of producing disease resistant poultry against white diarrhea.

C. L. Kutil, president of the local poultrymen's association, briefly summarized the work of the organization the past three years and outlined the work that must be done in the near future.

In speaking of the future, the president said "the poultrymen's year is divided into three seasons:— (1) From June to October when Antioch's summer visitors create such a demand that eggs and broilers can be marketed to an advantage locally. Better roadside marketing must be done during this period; (2) From October to February when our supply is low and prices are high. Better winter production stimulated by proper management and feeding will increase the profits at this time; (3) From February to June when production is at its height and prices are low. This is the most discouraging time for local poultrymen, and something must be done to bring them better returns. It is proposed that hatching eggs and baby chicks be sold at this time. A two cent egg can be changed to a 14 cent chick in three weeks. That chick can in ten or twelve weeks be converted into a $1.25 broiler." A five reel motion picture "Yoke of the Age" wound up the evening. A good time was had.

MISS DUPRE A PRIZE WINNER

For telling in a well written essay "Why Delavan is a Desirable Place to Live," Miss Betty Dupre has been awarded a prize of ten dollars from the business men's club of that Wisconsin city.

MRS. SHULTIS ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Clarence Shultis was hostess to the afternoon card club at her home Tuesday. Members of the club were very pleasantly entertained at five hundred, after which a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

hunting and fishing licenses should be required under four or six years from the time the bond issue is authorized, according to Speaker Scholes. By that time between 150,000 and 200,000 acres of land will be owned by the state for public hunting and fishing grounds and game preserves.

Lake County 11th in Auto Licenses

Approximately 35 per cent of all the automobile fees collected in Illinois are paid by owners residing in Cook County, according to figures announced recently by Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson.

Of the total $14,947,267 collected by the automobile department of the secretary of state's office in 1926, Cook county contributed $5,286,139. Peoria county ranks second with a total of $302,012; St. Clair third with $301,232; Kane fourth with $296,115, and Madison fifth with $282,570.

Lake county ranks eleventh with $216,760.00 spent for licenses in 1926. Hardin county has the least number of autos, license fees from that county totaling only $7,544.00.

Wants Uncle Sam To Make Hard Liquor At Eighty Cents Pint

Representative William D. Hull, of Peoria, is sponsoring a bill for the creation of a million dollar corporation by the government to engage in the manufacture and sale of medicinal whiskey. The corporation, according to the plan of Representative Hull, would be under the supervision of the Secretary of the Treasury, now in charge of the Prohibition Enforcement.

It is the idea of Representative Hull that the government is now figuratively in the whiskey business, and under the bill would make contracts with distillers throughout the country to manufacture for them the amount of liquor needed to supply their medicinal trade. Representative Hull, in explaining his measure, contends that the government, in this manner, could manufacture whiskey at 80 cents per pint.

MARRIED AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH AT BRISTOL

Miss Frances Quinlan and Dr. Thomas Farrell, of Chicago were married on Thursday, February 3, by Rev. Brasky at St. Mary's church, Bristol.

Miss Quinlan is the only sister of Mrs. Oliver L. Hoyer.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Hoyer residence on Voltz Lake.

Dr. and Mrs. Farrell left for New Orleans and will travel for three months through the south to California.

Upon their return, they will reside in Chicago.

WOMAN'S CLUB WILL SPONSOR ENTERTAINMENT

Pola Negri in "Hotel Imperial" will be shown two nights, Monday and Tuesday, March 7 and 8, at the Antioch theatre. The entertainment is being given under the auspices of the Antioch Woman's Club.

FORMER EDITOR OF NEWS DIES IN CLINTON, IOWA

A. H. Storms Was Business Partner of J. J. Burke.

A. H. Storms, one of the early owners of the Antioch News, died very suddenly Jan. 28, at his home in Clinton, Iowa, succumbing to neuralgia of the heart.

Older residents here will remember Mr. Storms as one of the first owners of the Antioch News, being the business associate of John J. Burke.

Mr. Storms was born May 26, 1860, at Delavan, Ill. He was united in marriage May 28, 1882, to Miss Mattie E. Towle of Hennepin, Ill. She died in 1902. Two sons, Ralph G. and Walter T., survive this marriage. He was united in marriage to Miss Bertha E. Maul of Clinton, February 18, 1903.

He is survived by his wife and five sons, Ralph G., of Chicago; Walter T., of Palatine, Ill.; Philip, Chas., Willard and the daughter Vianina, all of Clinton; also six grandchildren.

Mr. Storms was a member of Western Star lodge, 100, A. F. and A. M., also of Ivanhoe lodge, 45, Knights of Pythias. He was master of finance of Ivanhoe lodge, which organization had charge of the funeral services.

Before coming to Clinton nine years ago, Mr. Storms was assistant postmaster at Iron Mountain, Mich., serving there for twenty years.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS MASQUERADE DANCE

A large crowd, a large time and much merriment featured the masquerade ball at the Danish Hall, Wednesday night. John L. Moran, as the village constable, with whippers, cornucopia pipe and officer's star, topped prize for gentlemen, and Mrs. Clarence Shultis, in a Martha Washington costume, won first prize for ladies.

The Silver Derby of Lake Geneva furnished the music.

ANNOUNCE LIBRARY HOURS

For the convenience of the patrons of the public library the following rules regarding hours should be observed by the public: Adult patrons should call for or return books at 3:00 p. m., small school children and high school student at 4:00 to 5:00. The library at the town hall is open from 3:00 to 5:00 each Tuesday and Friday. Observance of the time set for each group of patrons will lessen confusion and will be of great assistance to Miss Mary Stanley, librarian in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Craven, of Harvey, Ill., were guests last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seller.

Former Resident Dies in Waukegan

James S. Gerred Was Born in Antioch in 1850.

James S. Gerred, former resident of Antioch, died Thursday at his late home at 325 Franklin street, Waukegan, where he had resided for many years.

Mr. Gerred was born at Antioch May 10, 1860, and it was here he grew to manhood. May 10, 1883, he was united in marriage to Miss Cora Wilton, also of this village, and to this union two children were born, who with the wife are left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father.

He is survived by his wife, one son Vern Gerred, of Libertyville, one daughter, Pearl, who lives at home and one grand child besides an aged sister and other relatives.

The funeral services were held at the White and Tobin funeral home, where a large number of his relatives and friends had gathered. Interment was in the North Shore Cemetery.

ECHO OF FOX LAKE MURDER CASE SEEN IN KENOSHA ACTION

Damage Suits Brought by Arthur and Lillie Holt Dismissed in Kenosha County Court.

DEATH HAD PREVENTED TRIAL

Lillie Holt, who was murdered in the summer home of her husband at Fox Lake last year, and for whose murder her husband and several others were acquitted, had her entry in the Kenosha circuit court blotted out Friday when attorneys who represented her and her husband, Arthur Holt agreed with attorneys for Orville Himmelman in the disposition of a $1,500 damage suit without trial.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt were driving through Kenosha county on April 5, 1925, when they alleged they were struck by an auto driven by Orville Himmelman. Holt filed suit for $500 and his wife filed suit for $1,000. Before the suit could be tried, however Mrs. Holt was murdered.

Friday attorneys appeared before Judge E. B. Beiden asking that the complaint of the plaintiff be dismissed in court and that both parties agree to share the costs of the case without further hearings. The order was granted.—Waukegan Sun Feb. 5

Ernest Clark, of Toledo, Ohio, arrived here Saturday for a visit with his mother, Mrs. George Clark. Mrs. Clark is 94 years of age.

NEW GYMNASIUM OPENS TUESDAY

Arlington Heights to Be Opponents in First Game on New Floor February 15.

The new gymnasium of the Antioch Township High School will be opened the first time on next Tuesday, when Arlington Heights basketball team comes to Antioch for a return game.

They gave Antioch one of her hardest games of the season at Arlington Heights and will be after revenge when they come here next Tuesday.

Antioch Wins Overtime Game.

Antioch came thru one of her hardest games of the season, at Arlington Heights, on the long end of an 19 to 16 score. At the end of the regular playing period the score was tied 16 to 16 and an extra three minute session had to be played to decide this bitterly fought contest. In this session both teams relied on long shots and Schwenk connected with one that gave Antioch the game.

The game was hard fought all the way, the score at the end of the half being 9 to 8 in favor of Antioch. Heights came back strong in the third quarter and at the end of that period they had the locals 15 to 9. The fourth quarter was the hardest fought, with Heights trying to hold their advantage and Antioch gradually drawing closer. Just before the end of the game Wilson got away for a nice basket that tied the score and then Schwenk came thru in the overtime session to win the game.

Easy Winners Over Richmond.

Antioch won an easy game from Richmond on Tuesday night by the score of 27 to 7. The locals did not play good basketball to win this game, but Richmond was off form in hitting the basket and due to this fact the locals ran up a score of 15 to 0 in the first half.

The second half was much more even with both teams playing good floor games, but not being able to connect with the iron ring.

Waukegan Here Friday.

On Friday of this week Waukegan comes to Antioch for a return game and they will give the locals a hard battle as they did at Waukegan. Antioch was able to defeat them 23 to 17 at Waukegan in a game featured by close guarding on the part of Waukegan.

Lights to Play Allendale.

Antioch's lightweight team will battle Allendale on Friday night and this will be a grudge battle as Allendale defeated them early in the season 10 to 7 and the lights think they can reverse the score this time.

VANISHING PARTY

AT DUNN HOME

Another of the delightful vanishing parties being sponsored by members of the Parent-Teacher association was given Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunn. Hostesses at party were: Mesdames T. J. Knott, C. Mortenson, L. G. Strang, and Dora Forbrich. Five hundred was played at eight tables, Mrs. Dan Walsh winning first prize and Miss Marguerite Sheehan second. Consolation prize was awarded to Miss Heyneck. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of a very enjoyable evening.

PURCHASE MILKING MACHINE

Lewis Glassman, on the Van Duzer farm north of Antioch, has this week installed a Benman milking machine. Mr. Glassman has been milking twenty cows, about two hours work, but with the new machine he finds he can do the job in just half the time and at a cost of five cents. He is well pleased with his purchase and invites farmers to call and see his new milker in operation.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR MRS. JOHNSON HELD SATURDAY

Funeral service for Mrs. Johannah Johnson, who passed away Thursday morning, Feb. 3, was held Saturday morning at 10:30 from St. Peter's Church with solemn high mass. The remains were laid to rest in Mt. Carmel cemetery.

GERALDINE BONNER

COPYRIGHT BY THE DOBBS-MERRILL CO.

PROLOGUE.—While despoiled over the enforced hiding of her slave, Jim Dallas, slayer in self defense of Homer Parkinson, member of an influential family, Sybil Saunders, popular actress, is engaged to play "Twelfth Night" on Gull Island, on the Maine coast. In the company are Sybil's bosom friend, Anne Tracy, Anne's brother Joe, young wasterel, and Aleck Stokes, an actor infatuated with Sybil.

CHAPTER I.—After the play, which is a big hit, Wally Shine, official photographer, learns something of the jealousy existing in the company.

CHAPTER II

The launch was on its way back for those of the actors who were leaving Gull Island, squinting at the engine, calculated the distribution of his time. After he'd taken them across he'd have his supper and then go back for Joe Tracy, who was leaving on the seven-fifteen for his vacation. When Joe was disposed of, Gabriel was to meet two Boston sports who had engaged him for a week's deep-sea fishing at White Beach, twenty-five miles down the coast. It was a strenuous program for the old man and he grumbled to himself about it, the grumbling giving zest to anticipations that some of them would be late. By the time he drew near the island he had grumbled himself into a state of irascible defiance against anyone who would dare upset his plans.

To warn them of his coming he sounded the whistle and its shrill tone acted like a magic summons. A group of men, bearing suitcases and bags, emerged from the entrance and ran down the path, Bassett following.

Gabriel quieted down—they were all ready and waiting—and then saw Joe Tracy come round the corner of the house in his Sebastian dress. The old man muttered profoundly—why wasn't the d-d cub getting ready? And as the boat made its landing, he called out:

"Say, you'd better be gettin' them tops off. I'll be back here for you at a quarter to seven."

The boy, leaping lightly from rock to rock, grinned without answering. The picturesque dress suited him, he looked almost handsome, and with the feathered cap on his golden wigs set rakishly askant, he moved downward with a jaunty, debonaire swagger. Gabriel didn't like him, anyway, and now his impudent face, framed by the drooping blond curls, looked to the launch man indignantly spiteful.

But Gabriel wasn't going to go till he'd made things clear. He appealed to Bassett, whom he had privately sized up as the only one of the outfit who was like the rational human males of his experience. Besides he had seen that Joe Tracy respected, if not feared, the director.

"I'll be back here at quarter to seven for the Tracy boy, and I'm telling him he's got to be ready. I can't waste no time settin' round waitin' and if he's not here on the dot—"

"That's all right," Bassett put a comforting hand on his shoulder and turned to Joe. "You heard that, Joe?"

The boy answered with his snorting grin:

"What's got the old geezer? Does he think I'm as deaf as he is?"

Gabriel's weather-beaten visage red-dened. He was not in the habit of being called an "old geezer" and he was not deaf. But the actors, all in the boat, were clamoring to start. They had a train to make—got in, an agent, and turn on the air rent. In a chorus of farewells the boat chugged off.

The three men left on the wharf went up the path to the doorway where Shine and Mrs. Cornell had resumed their seats. Shine was struck by their difference of type—if you went the world over you couldn't find three more varied specimens. The only one he liked was Bassett, something square and solid about him and a good straight look in his eyes. And he'd a lot of authority—the way he managed this wild-eyed bunch showed that.

They stopped at the steps and Joe Tracy made his good-byes. He was going camping in the woods with his friend Jimmy Travers, who was to meet him at Bangor tonight. They'd stay there twenty-four hours getting their stuff together, then be off for the northern saltitudes—no beaten tracks for them. He left, jauntily swinging his killed skirts, a whistle tune on his lips. Soon after, Stokes departed, saying he was going to change his clothes.

A door to the right opened into the entrance hall. Here he and his wife occupied a ground-floor room. He listened at the panel before he entered, then softly turned the knob, and, inside, as he softly closed the door, shut in and alone his languid pose fell from him like a cloak. An avid eagerness sharpened his features and directed his hands, pulling open his valise and taking from it a small leather case. Moving back from the window he pushed up his sleeve, took the hypodermic from the case and pressed in the needle. When he had restored the drug to its place, he threw himself on the bed and lay with closed eyes feeling the ineffable comfort, grateful for an influx of life, vitalize and soothe his tortured being.

Mrs. Cornell and Shine rose up and followed him. Mrs. Cornell had her packing to get through and wanted Miss Pinkney's help. Shine was going to see if the pantry would do for a dark room, intending to take some flashlight photographs of the company that evening. He'd found in a cabinet all the flashlight requisites and thought it would be an interesting memento of their visit—each of them to have a picture.

"They've got everything here," he said as he pointed to the corner where he had made his find. "No more all the supplies, but two first-class cameras and a projector. I suppose some of the family took it up for a tad."

Shine, who was doffing his hat in the luncheon room, disappeared into the adjoining pantry and Mrs. Cornell trotted resolutely on into the kitchen, being one of the few members of the company who was not afraid of the housekeeper.

Miss Pinkney, who was sitting upright in a stiff-backed chair, rose respectfully. She was a lean, shrewd woman of fifty, with tight-drawn hair and a long horse face. She had disappeared bitterly of the intrusion of the actors upon the sacred precincts of Gull Island and though she had been rigidly polite hoped that her disapproval had got across.

Mrs. Cornell broached her request and Miss Pinkney agreed. She was even very pleasant about it, showing a brisk, friendly alacrity—with the helper gone they'd only be a cold supper and she could dish that up in two shakes. Together they left the kitchen and on the stairs Mrs. Cornell hooked her plump arm inside Miss Pinkney's bony one and said when Mr. Shine took the flashlights that night he must take one of them as the "feeder" and the other as the "fed."

Bassett had gone into the house, too. As he crossed the living room he noticed its deserted quietude, in contrast to the noise and bustle that had possessed it an hour ago.

He opened the door into the hall, where again all was quiet, none of the jarring accents that occasionally rose from the Stokes' room. He walked across the gleaming parquet to the library which he had used for his office. Two long French windows framed a view of the channel and Hayworth dreaming among its elms. He went to one of the windows and looked out. The girls were still sitting there, and as he looked at them, an expression of infinite tenderness lay like a light on his face. It was the light Shine had noticed, allowed to break through clearly now that no one was there to see.

He sat down at the desk; there were letters for him to answer, addenda of the performance to check up. He moved the papers, looked at them, pushed them away, and, resting his forehead on his hands, relinquished himself to a deep pervading happiness. Yesterday Anne had promised to marry him.

His mind, held all day to his work, now flew to her—memories of her face with the down-bent lids as he had asked her, and the look in her eyes as they met his. Brave beautiful eyes with her soul in them. It had been no light acceptance for her, it meant the surrendering of her whole being, her life given over to him. He heard her voice again, and his face sank into his hands, his heart trembling in the passion of its dedication to her service. Anne, whom he had coveted and yearned for and thought of far beyond his reach. He would be worthy of her, and he would take such care of her, and her could with his two arms, a blocker against every ill that life might bring. She'd had such a hard time of it, struggling up by herself with Joe hanging round her neck like a millstone.

At the memory of Joe he came to earth with a jarring impact. He dropped his hands and stared at the papers, his brows bent in harassed thought. Bassett had heard something that morning from Sybil which must be looked into—something he could hardly believe. But Joe being what he was, you never could tell. It had been a mistake to bring him, with Sybil a bunch of nerves and Stokes shouted unexpectedly into their midst. And now he felt responsible, he'd have it out with Joe before he left. One more disagreeable scene before they separated tomorrow, and Bassett, like Mrs. Cornell, felt he'd thank Providence when they were all on the train in the morning. Meanwhile he'd go over his papers while he waited for the boy, who had gone to his room to dress. The door was open and he could hear him as he came down the stairs.

Anne was approaching the house, a slender, girlish figure, her hair in the sunset light shining like black lacquer. She was smiling to herself—everything was so beautiful, not only Gull Island and this hour of tranquil glory, but the mere fact of existing. Then she saw Flora Stokes sitting on the balcony and realized that in this golden world there were people to whom life was a dark and troublous affair. She wanted to comfort Flora, let some of the happiness in her own heart spill over into that burdened one. But she knew no way of doing it, could only smile at the haggard face the woman lifted from her book.

"Oh, Mrs. Stokes, reading," she cried as she ran up the steps. "How can you read on such an evening as this?"

Flora Stokes said she had been walking about till she was tired, and then glanced at the distant rack:

There was no comfort or consolation that could penetrate Mrs. Stokes' obsession. Anne could only reassure: "She's coming in soon. She just wanted to see the end of the sunset."

She passed into the hall, sorry—oh, so sorry! But the library door was open and she halted, poised birdlike for one glance. The man at the desk had his back to her and she said nothing, yet he turned, gave a smothered sound and jumped up. She shut her eyes as she felt his arms go about her and his kisses on her hair, her senses blurred in a strange ineffably sweet confusion of timidity and delight.

"Darling," he breathed, when the kiss was over, "I thought you were never coming."

"I had to stay with Sybil. She didn't want to be alone."

"But you wanted to be here?"

"Just here," she laid a finger on his breast and broke into smothered, breathless laughter.

He laughed too and they drew apart, their hands sliding together and interlocking. It was all so new, so wonderfully entrancing, that they did not know how to express it, the man staring wonder-struck, the girl, with her quivering laughter that was close to tears, looking this way and that, not knowing where to look.

"I ought to go," she whispered. "They'll be coming," but made no move.

"Wait till they do." Then with a sudden practical facing of realities: "When will we be married?"

"Oh, not for ages! I'm not used to being engaged yet."

"I am—I never was before but I must have had a talent for it, I've taken to it so well."

"Oh, Hugh!" Her laughter came more naturally, his with it. They were like a pair of children, delighting in a little secret. "Won't they be surprised when they hear? Nobody has a suspicion of it."

She looked so enchanting with her eyebrows arched in mischievous query that he made a movement to clasp her again, and then came the creak of an opening door from the floor above.

"Halt!" she held up a warning hand and slid away, her face, glowing back for a last look, beautiful in its radiant joy.

Bassett moved to the stair-foot. Once again he had to come down to earth with a bump. He passed his hand over his face as if to wipe off an expression incompatible with disagreeable interviews. This must be Joe.

It was Joe, dressed for travel in knickerbockers and a Norfolk jacket, a golf cap on the back of his head. He carried an overcoat across his arm, in his hand a suitcase and a fishing rod done up in a canvas case. At the sight of Bassett he halted, and the elder man noticed a change in his expression, a quick focusing to attention.

"Oh," he said. "Want to see me, Bassett?"

"Yes, I want to speak to you before you go."

Joe descended, stopping a step above Bassett, he set down his baggage and leaned on the banister, politely waiting.

Bassett spoke with lowered voice: "I heard something this morning that I can hardly believe—an accusation against you. That you've been using your position here to act as one of the police spies who've been keeping tabs on Sybil."

The boy looked at him with impotent eyes and answered in the same lowered key:

"Who told you that?"

"She did. She accuses you of having come here with that intention, got the job knowing that no outsiders were to be allowed on the island."

Bassett was certain he had paled under the inn, but his face retained a masklike passivity.

"Sounds as if she might be losing her mind."

"You deny it?"

The boy gave a scornful string: "Of course I deny it. I shouldn't think it would be necessary to ask that."

"She says she came upon you examining a letter of hers, holding it up to the light. And three days ago she found you in her room looking over the papers in her desk."

"Ah," he made a gesture of angry contempt. "It would make a person sick—examining her letters! I was looking through the mail bag to see if there was anything for me. If I took up one of hers by mistake does that prove I was examining it?"

"How about the other thing?"

"Being in her room? Yes, I was there. I went in to get a stamp. I had an important letter to go when Gabriel took over the mail and it was time for him. All the rest of you were out. Her room was next to mine and I went in. I never thought anything about it, no more than I would have thought about going into Anne's or yours or anybody else's. She's nutty. I tell you. You can't trust her word. And if she says I'm hired to spy on her she's a d—t—t—t."

He stopped. Bassett's eye was steady on him in a cold command he knew. There was the same cold quality in the director's voice:

"If the position Sybil's in has made her suspicious, that's all right. I'd like to believe it was the case. But if any of us—supposedly her friends—had inserted themselves in here to carry on police surveillance, using me to get them in—well, I'd not think that all right."

Joe leaned over the banister. His control was shaken, his voice hoarsely urgent:

"You got to be fair, Bassett, and because you're sorry for her is no reason to set her word over mine. It's not true. Don't you believe me?"

Bassett did not answer for a moment. He wanted to believe and he doubted; he thought of Joe's desire to come, of the reward:

"I guess you know, Joe, you can trust me to be fair, but I'm not going to commit myself till I know. It won't be hard to do that. I can find out when I get back to New York. And take this from me—if what Sybil says is true I'm done with you. No more help from me, no more work in any company I manage. And I fancy the whole theatrical profession will feel the same way."

He drew back from the stair-foot. The disagreeable interview was over. "There's no good talking any more about it. Accusations and denials don't get us anywhere. We'll let it rest till I've made my inquiries. I'll say good-by now and hope you'll have a good time in the woods."

He turned and walked up the hall to his room on the garden front next the Stokes'. Joe gathered his luggage and went the opposite way, down the hall and into the big central apartment. At the entrance door he set down his luggage and as he bent over it a whispered stream of curses flowed from his lips. He cursed Bassett and his luck, but Sybil with a savage variety of epithet and choice of misfortune, for she had undone him. Straightening up, he looked blankly about—his inner turmoil was such he hardly knew where he was—and he retraced his steps, seeking the seclusion of his room, went up the stairs in noiseless vaulting strides like a frightened spider climbing to its web.

"15 Eggs to the Dozen!"

THAT'S the way one man who feeds his hens Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash expresses his increased production. "I gather 15 eggs for every dozen that I got before I used Ful-O-Pep," he says.

You can increase the number of eggs you are getting every day, too. Right now is the time to do it—extra eggs mean real extra cash profit at this time of year.

This is the famous feed that contains Cod Liver Meal to make the other ingredients give additional value. Every mouthful gives the hens all feed—no waste—and young and old layers keep right on producing. Eggs are larger, better-flavored, and uniform in size with strong shells. And next Spring you'll have wonderful hatching eggs.

Subject, "The Life of Lincoln."

We are asking all our people to co-operate with us in our efforts to improve the church spirit of our community. This can best be done by parental teaching, which will encourage the younger members of the family to attend worship.

It has been said and it is true that the church is the thermometer of the community. Where there is a church that is well attended there is generally a community that is appreciative of the better and finer things of life. We want our church to be an indication of the type of our citizens.

Uneasy Lies Hangman's Head, Diary Reveals

Bradford, England.—The visions of a hangman do not make pleasant reading, as revealed in the notes of an executioner, James Berry of Bradford, who died some years ago. He was credited with 124 executions, and his weird experiences and sensations are detailed fully in a diary covering several hundred pages.

Berry's most celebrated case and most trying ordeal was that of John Lee, Berry and an assistant, in Exeter prison, tried in vain on four occasions to hang Lee. Each time the drop refused to net, and finally Lee was reprieved.

Of one execution Berry writes: "I am sick at stomach, sick at heart. I am always like that after an execution. I have had no sleep for two nights. I never closed my eyes in Oxford Gaol, where the execution took place, all night long. I could not sleep a wink last night, either. Time and again—a hundred times, it seemed—just as I was about to drift into slumberland, I saw my latest victim before me."

Telephone Service Must Go On

EVERY telephone added to this system during the past ten years has required an average investment higher than for those installed ten years ago. This condition will apply to each telephone added for many years, if present price levels hold. The company is powerless to control these advances.

THE blizzards of winter and the cyclones of summer are the implacable enemies of the telephone service. Experience covering many years has enabled the Bell System to develop the best forms of protection and the best weapons of defense in this warfare.

Modern improved construction and the development of a highly trained and alert organization have made interruptions much less frequent and have cut down the average length of time in which service is suspended.

Septuagesima Sunday Calendar.

10:30 Matins.
4:30 Choir.
6:00 Gamma Kappa Delta.
On Septuagesima Sunday the Church passes the great dividing line of the Christian Year Calendar, as the name of the Sunday, seventy days before Easter, is symbolic of the preparatory nature to the Easter Festival on April the 17th.

The text for the day is Genesis 1: 1 "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." The text God is everywhere.

The Young People have an important business meeting on Sunday evening and plans for the Spring will be made. Mr. Dixon will give a short talk on the Bible as Literature.

Mr. Dixon in reporting the Annual Diocesan Convention held at St. James' Church Chicago last week said, "Some dull and unimaginative people hate statistics. They yawn over a row of figures and go to sleep over an annual report. But the good report of a good cause is never dull. The annual reports of the hundred and fifty odd churches active in this Diocese including our own are thrilling to those who attempt to have the eyes to see the human beings that made them possible. Love in here, and dedication loyalty, and sacrifice, much planning and much hard work. We ought to be immensely proud of our organizations. Not one of them exists merely on paper. All the statistics financial and others have one great dominating and romantic motive, the extension of the Kingdom of God, and all the signs that appear are outward and visible signs of sacrifice in actual expression for a noble cause."

Methodist Notes

The Sunday evening services at the Methodist Episcopal Church continue to be well attended. Last Sunday's program was greatly enjoyed by all. Mrs. H. Gaston sang the "Old Hugged Cross" most beautifully, as she sang the second verse the illuminated cross was lighted and will remain lighted until after Easter. The sermon centered around the meaning of the cross.

Next Sunday evening Miss Baack will have her girls put on that most wonderful pageant, "The Challenge of the Cross." Everywhere where once put on the request comes for a second showing so fascinating is it. The theme bespeaks of the Christian experience in actual life as we see it every day. Eight girls will play the heavy parts while a chorus of ten will sing the music scores which is part of the play. It is suggested that those wishing a seat will come early. The doors will be open at seven o'clock.

The Ladies Aid are busily engaged working for the summer bazaar which is planned for sometime in July. Have you any suggestions as to how a bazaar should be conducted and what should be sold. Bring them in to the committee on plans.

The Sunday school banquet is progressing nicely. The date is Feb. 18. There will be a program of special interest. Every parent should be present at this meeting as well as those who are interested in the welfare of the children of our community. Tickets will be thirty five cents.

CARD PARTY

There will be a "500" card party at the Danish Hall on Ida Avenue on Monday night, Feb. 11, at 8 o'clock. Prizes and lunch. Price 25 cents. Everybody welcome. (22c)

RHEUMATISM

While in France with the American Army I obtained a noted French prescription for the treatment of Rheumatism and Neuritis. I have given this to thousands with wonderful results. The prescription cost me nothing. I ask nothing for it. I will mail it if you will send me your address. A postal will bring it. Write today. Paul Case Dept. H-412, Brockton, Mass.

The high degree of efficiency in First Aid and Safety work attained by employees of Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad—the North Shore Line—was publicly demonstrated when 30 picked experts engaged in competition for company championship honors at the Parish House, Waukegan, the evening of January 27.

Before an audience of 500, five teams representing various departments demonstrated their skill in meeting emergencies and showing "what to do before the doctor arrives."

An average 97 per cent was made by the Mechanical Department team in six problems—one of the highest ever recorded in a contest of this kind. This team, however, was forced to extend itself to win championship honors by the skillful work of the Electrical Department team, which completed the scheduled five problems with a score that tied the mark of the Mechanical Department representatives.

The contest was held under the supervision of the American Red Cross, which organization furnished the judges and a First Aid medal to each member of the winning aggregation. A North Shore Line trophy also was awarded to this team.

This program marked the conclusion of a record year in First Aid training activities among the North Shore Line employees. A total of 135 members of the personnel were graduated during 1926. These will receive Red Cross diplomas certifying their completion of the course at a banquet to be held at the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, on February 24.

HARRY A. ISAACS,
Village Clerk.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"SPIRIT" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, February 6.

The Golden Text was from II Cor. 4:18, "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit into Galilee; and there went out a fame of him through all the region round about. And there was delivered unto him the book of the prophet Isaiah. And when he had opened the book, he found the place where it was written, 'The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised' (Luke 4:14, 17-18)."

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The senses of Spirit abide in Love, and they demonstrate Truth and Life. Hence Christianity and the Science which expounds it are based on spiritual understanding, and they supersede the so-called laws of matter. Jesus demonstrated this great verity" (p. 274).

Got Something You Want to Sell?

Most people have a piece of furniture, a farm implement, or something else which they have discarded and which they no longer want.

These things are put in the attic, or stored away in the barn, or left lying about, getting of less and less value each year.

WHY NOT SELL THEM?

Somebody wants those very things which have become of no use to you. Why not try to find that somebody by putting a want advertisement in THIS NEWSPAPER?

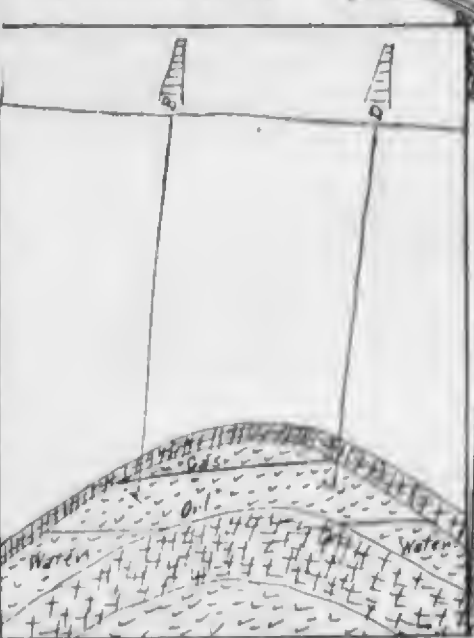

U. S. Authority Sees Ample Motor Fuel for Long Future

WORKERS IN GAS MASKS AT AN OIL WELL

MR. HILL'S IMPROMPTU SKETCH OF AN OIL DOME

EXPERIMENTAL OIL SHALE REDUCTION PLANT

The U. S. Bureau of Mines is confident that motor fuel supplies will be ample for many years to meet all needs of the country's millions of automobiles. Harry H. Hill, chief petroleum engineer of the Bureau, here tells the reasons for this conviction, and sketches the advances in industrial methods which justify his opinion.

By HARRY H. HILL

Chief Petroleum Engineer, United States Bureau of Mines.

ONE reason why there is no reason to worry greatly about motor fuel for a long time ahead is that people are worrying about it. Interest in such a question at the right time, is the best insurance against disaster. The President and the Federal Oil Corporation Board have done what was needed, at the right time.

We know that most petroleum has come from rather limited areas and that even from these only a small proportion has been taken out. Oil produced by gas pressure capable of lifting it to the surface when we drill holes is but a small proportion of all the oil contained in the sands. Even from the best pools recovery by the old methods is small, perhaps one-half in the most favorable conditions, oftener one-sixth, or one-seventh, or one-tenth. But a considerable part of what still remains in the ground can be recovered by methods now established as technically and economically practicable.

Producing oil from coal and shales and by mining the oil bearing sands is entirely possible. Experiments are going on in these directions, and if we ever have to fall back on these resources we will be ready. For a long time, however, the present methods of exploration and drilling, with improving processes to assure larger recoveries, are likely to suffice.

An Oil Dome Illustrated

I am no draughtsman, but maybe I can draw something that will help explain. Here's a rough drawing of an oil dome. The shaded part at the bottom is a deposit of oil bearing sands—with an impervious rock stratum above. A wild-catter drilled the hole A-B and gas pressure caused oil and gas to flow. After a while the gas pressure wasn't sufficient to keep up the flow and they pumped until ultimately even this ceased producing.

Nevertheless, most of the oil was still left sticking to the sand grains. Then the operator drilled the well C-D, which flowed for a time, but most of the oil was still down there in the sand. If the gas pressure could be restored more would flow. So the operator injects gas into one well, restoring the pressure and causing the oil to resume flowing from the other. After a time the flow will stop again, but still much of the oil will be left. In some fields it has been possible to obtain additional amounts of oil by introducing water in some of the wells and forcing the oil to others. The addition of a chemical such as soda ash to the water may assist in removing the oil from the sand grains, but neither plain water nor water containing chemicals should be introduced into an oil sand except as a last resort, for it is likely that the water, which travels faster through the sand, will get to the open wells ahead of the oil and when the flow is resumed under pressure water will come out.

Everything Saved Nowadays

The gas escaping from an oil well carries with it a proportion of gasoline, which in the old days was lost. Nowadays it is extracted from the gas and saved, while the dry gas can be forced back into the ground to maintain pressure.

One of the menaces to most oil pools is the inflow of subterranean water. Water flows through the oil sands faster than oil, and by surrounding the bottom of the well keeps the oil out. How to shut off the water and permit the oil to run out is a problem with which the engineers have long worked. They have made great progress and so increased recoveries.

In earlier times most oil producers carefully guarded all information about their wells and experiences, but latterly there is co-operation in these matters. Geologists and petroleum engineers, once derided by the "practical" oil men, are more and more accepted as guides and mentors. New knowledge is constantly increasing recoveries.

As to Mining for Oil

In Lorraine they have dug shafts down to the oil sands and actually brought the sands out, like coal from a mine. But it's costly.

Another mining process is to sink a shaft to the oil sands and from its bottom drive tunnels in all directions through the sands. From these tunnels small perforated pipes are driven into the sands, which drain the oil out of the sands. It flows to larger pipes back at the foot of the shaft and thence is pumped out. This requires installing an expensive plant, but in some fields the high recovery that is assured might justify the cost. I understand the process is about to be installed in a few fields in this country, some companies being convinced it is practicable and profitable.

Oil can be distilled from coal, and much work is now being done along this line. But more appeal has been made by the plan of extracting oil from shale. The shales of Scotland have been worked for three-quarters of a century, and they are almost unlimited in this country, richer in oil than those of Scotland. Kentucky, Ohio, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming and California are particularly rich in shales. It is just a question of the cost of extracting the oil. Congress has given $180,000, with which the Bureau has installed a plant near Rulison, Colorado, to distill oil from the Colorado River shales. It is calculated that the shales mined at Rulison will produce about a barrel of oil to the ton.

The Use of Oil Shales

In Scotland they are working shales that produce about twenty-five gallons of oil per ton. The seams are from three-and-a-half to eight or ten feet thick. In Colorado are seams many times as thick and containing much more oil per ton. Reduction of shales involves an enormous mining operation, and after the oil is extracted the vast tonnage of refuse must be disposed of. So it is expensive compared with producing oil from wells.

Hen E. Lindsey of the Bureau of Mines Experiment Station at Bartlesville, Okla., is confident that exploration, better recoveries, better utilization and deeper drilling would furnish enough oil to meet all requirements for at least twenty-five to fifty years. If it could be extracted in that time. But as a practical matter this will not be possible. Within that period there will be times of shortage, when oil from shales will be needed to supplement the oil from wells, etc.

Meantime federal and state governments and the industry are co-operating in an astonishing range of investigations and studies. These activities cover such a wide field that even an enumeration of them would run into tiresome detail.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1907

The Epworth League realized the sum of $37.00 clear, from the old folks concert given Friday evening. Will Williams was a Chicago passenger Tuesday. While there he will take in the auto show.

Mrs. Wm. Hanneman spent a few days this week with relatives at Silverlake.

Fred Hembrook spent several days recently with relatives at Waterford, Wis.

Will Pitman has returned to his home at Chetek, Wis., after a visit with relatives here.

On account of the scarlet fever scare, the school board has deemed it wise to close the school here for a week, although there are no cases in town.

Williams Bros., are having their ice house filled this week. The ice is of a good quality and about 13 inches thick.

On Saturday afternoon of last week the members of the Antioch Hillside Cemetery society gave their secretary and treasurer, Mrs. D. Ferris, a genuine surprise, and as tokens of appreciation of her services, the society presented her with a water pitcher and a sugar bowl and cream cup of Japanese ware. To say that she was surprised, but mildly expresses it, however, she soon collected her thoughts and made her guests most heartily welcome. The afternoon was spent in social converse and at about five o'clock a bonneted supper was served. All departed declaring that they spent a most pleasant afternoon and that Mrs. Ferris, although surprised had proved to be an ideal hostess.

Elephant Dying Out

The elephant is the last of his kind, the offspring of the mastodon and the mammoth. Africa is the last stronghold of these large animals, but they are in a fair way of extinction like many other species of wild beasts and birds. About 20,000 elephants are killed annually for their ivory and they cannot multiply rapidly enough to keep up with the slaughter.

Three Holy Lands

Holy land is the name given by Christians to Palestine. Mohammedans, however, consider Arabia, the birthplace of Mohammed, the Holy land, while Buddhists call India, the country of Sakya Muni, the Holy land.

Alphabet Revision

The movement to revise the alphabet would receive more general support if it were understood that hereafter the letter indicating the first person singular will not be found.—Indianapolis News.

Always Open Question

Is not marriage an open question, when it is alleged, from the beginning of the world, that such as are in the institution wish to get out, and such as are out wish to get in?—Emerson.

Lake That Burns

Natives of Costa Rica burn a certain lake each year. The lake is thickly grown over with tall grass, the tips dry under the sun and the natives set fire to the mass.

Of Biblical Origin

The phrase "the breaking of the alabaster box" originated in the story of Mary Magdalene, who, tradition says, broke such a box to anoint the feet of Christ.

Happy Thought

I think it must somewhere be written that the virtues of mothers shall occasionally be visited on their children, as well as the sins of the fathers.—Dickens.

Limestone for Building

In the building of structures and of ornamental designs, limestone is used to a greater extent than any other form of natural stone.

French Penal Islands

The island where French life prisoners are sent is Devils Island, off the coast of French Guiana, South America. Near Devils Island are the two small French penal islands of Saint-Joseph and Ile Royale, which were formerly known, with Devils Island, as "Iles du Diable," but which later received the name "Iles du Salut."

Eminent Domain

Eminent domain is the right of a government to take private property for public uses provided just compensation is given to the owner. The government sometimes confers the right of eminent domain upon private companies engaged in callings essential to the public welfare.

Let Plants Breathe

Plants breathe through their leaves. They can not breathe if the pores are clogged with dust. Outside, the rains keep them clean. Indoors, they must be given a bath, once a week at least, with tepid water through a fine, gentle spray. Try this and see how your plants thrive.

How to Economize

Revise the weather and save $500,000,000 a year, says one university professor. Revise the alphabet and save $1,000,000,000 a year, says another university professor. But abolish them both and save the whole cost of living and learning.—New York Evening World.

Crow Doesn't Need Gizzard

The biological survey says that a gizzard is the name given to the hardened stomach of gallinaceous birds. A crow, strictly speaking, does not have a gizzard, as this bird does not eat such hard food as do gallinaceous birds.

OVERLAND Whippet makes spectacular 3 Flag Run

From Canada to Mexico averaging 29.3 miles per gallon of gasoline and 29.7 miles per hour.

DRIVEN by a representative of the Automobile Club of Washington, an absolutely stock Whippet Coach left the Canadian border at 8 a. m. Friday for Mexico.

The car was required to strictly observe all traffic regulations of the states through which it passed. All conditions of traffic were encountered—storms in Oregon—fog in the Siskiyous—snow in the high mountains—city traffic —desert heat—traveling over the poorest of dirt roads and the very finest of pavements—never exceeding the speed limits—driving as you would drive.

Without mechanical adjustment of any kind, the Whippet arrived in Tia Juana, Mexico, at 2:17 p. m. Tuesday, having traveled 1,845 miles in 62 hours and 8 minutes—averaging 29.3 miles per gallon and 29.7 miles per hour. What greater evidence of Whippet performance and economy could you ask than this? By all means see and drive this remarkable car.

WILMOT NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. George DeForest of Burbank, California, were guests of the other week of Mr. and Mrs. George Higgins. While here they motored to Lake Geneva for the day with Mr. and Mrs. George Higgins.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frank returned to Northbrook, Ill., on Wednesday after a visit of several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. John Frank.

Two basket ball games are scheduled for this Wednesday evening at the gymnasium. Silver Lake will play the Burlington Forrester and Wilmot-Genoa.

Miss Bice was called to her home at Beaver, Wis., by the serious illness of her father and mother. The former, a man of eighty-three is to undergo an operation. During the absence of Miss Bice, Mrs. Meredith of Salem, is teaching in the Wilmot Upper Grade room.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kruckman and Dale were at Richmond Sunday for the funeral of Joseph Richardson.

Ernest Peterson is holding a sale at the T. C. Loftus farm, west of Wilmot next Monday, Feb. 14. L. H. Freeman is the auctioneer.

Mrs. James Carey entertained at Bridge Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Oxtoby of Spring Grove, visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. Volbrecht on Friday. Mrs. Oxtoby attended the Cooking School in the afternoon with Mrs. Volbrecht, held at the Wisconsin Gas office.

Mrs. George Faulkner entertained Mrs. H. Labeno, of Trevor, and her sister, Mrs. C. Patterson, of Glendive, Montana, for the day. Thursday. Mrs. Patterson returned to Montana on Thursday.

Floyd Stoxen and Mr. Hyde took wheat to the McHenry mill on Monday.

Arthur Holtdorf, manager of the Wisconsin Gas and Electric company at Wilmot had Miss Ethel Star from Stevens Point, a demonstrator for the Monarch Electrical ranges constructed at Beaver Dam, give a two-day cooking and stove demonstration at the offices of the company here Friday and Saturday of last week. Both afternoons drew large crowds of interested men and women. Miss Star possesses a very charming personality besides being a very competent instructor in up-to-date methods of cooking foods by means of electricity. Mrs. Holtdorf ably assisted Miss Star.

The foods cooked each day were served to the audience and Mr. Holtdorf also had a prize drawing each afternoon. Friday, Miss Grace Carey received a Westinghouse toaster and on Saturday Mrs. Frank Burroughs a six piece set of aluminum cooking utensils. Dale Kruckman drew the cards each day.

The demonstration drew people from all the neighboring villages, Trevor, Camp Lake, Silverlake, Bassett, Spring Grove, and Richmond and Burlington. Many of the managers of the neighboring electrical offices attended.

There will be English services at the Evangelical Lutheran church at ten thirty next Sunday.

W. F. HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The high school basket ball team won a slow and uninteresting game from Union Grove Friday night, by a score of 30-6, rounding the string of victories up to five straight. The score does not indicate the superiority of the local team, for many substitutions were made, every member of the squad being given an opportunity to show his ability.

Wednesday night the rubber game will be played with Genoa City and this game will be a battle royal. Each team boasts one victory by a close score and the game Wednesday will not be over until the final whistle blows. Handicapped by lack of size, Captain McDougall's men hope to overcome this with speed.

Another interesting game will be played the same evening between Barber's Silver Lake Badger's and the Burlington Forrester's. The former game between these two teams resulted in a victory for Silver Lake. Barber's Boys have been playing great basket ball all season, and have been defeated but once. Many former high school stars compose the team, as well as others whose ability is well known. Friday night they took the league leading Independent Roofing company team, of Kenosha, into camp in a fast game.

The first two rounds in the boys' volleyball league were very exciting, the teams being evenly matched. Captain John Freeman has led his Hyenas through four victories thus far, but the other teams are determined to make things interesting for them this week.

Last Monday evening the Cavaliers were entertained by the Peppers at a supper. A speech of welcome was given by Mary Daly, and

It was answered by Fred Forster. Clever songs were sung by the girls. After the supper the Cavaliers proceeded to initiate nine new members in one of the most successful initiations ever held in the school. New members expressed their gratitude over having the competent Dr. Fiegel on hand to dress their wounds.

BRISTOL

August Paasch and August Maaske have their buildings wired for electricity.

Gordon Snyder recently had part of the interior of his house re-decorated. William Lewis did the work.

Fred Allen was an Antioch visitor Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kutzke visited friends in Waukegan, Saturday.

Mrs. Maude Murdoch entertained the "500" club Friday. High score received by Miss Carrie Murdoch and Mrs. Jake Maleski. A delightful lunch was served.

Miss Florence Murdoch, of Oak Park, spent the week end with her parents.

Mrs. Theodore Gottmann, of Chicago, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thorne last week.

Mrs. George Bryant, of Kenosha, was a guest of Mrs. Abe DeVuyl, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fox entertained Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Curtiss, Friday for 6 o'clock dinner.

Mrs. L. G. Bennett and son Francis, of Waukegan, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bishop, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin, of Chicago, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wolf.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Murdoch called on Mrs. Sarah Murdoch, Sunday.

Mrs. David Johnson and daughter Barbara, spent last week with relatives in Milwaukee. She accompanied her Johnson home the last of the week.

Harvey Dixon, of Waukegan, was entertained at the Chas. LaMeer home Sunday.

Mrs. Eleanor Jones visited relatives in Racine part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Wade, of Kenosha, and family were guests of the Frank Krueger family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Trieb and family were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Schoewer, of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Maaske Sr., visited Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Miller in Antioch, Sunday.

Lee Batterson motored to Harvard, Ill., Sunday. His mother, Mrs. Georgia Batterson accompanied him home for a visit.

Miss Vesta Minns visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Selby over Sunday.

Mrs. Chas. Selby entertained the following Saturday afternoon: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hartnell, Mrs. Byron Riggs, and Mrs. Herman Schonscheck, of Salem; and Mrs. Chas. LaMeer, Mrs. Minnie Dixon, Mrs. Leo LaMeer and Miss Vesta Minns. It was a Vanishing Tea Party for the benefit of the Priscillas in Salem.

Mr. Wm. Sears and Mrs. Sadie Fletcher of Union Grove, called on the Selby family Thursday.

Mrs. George Jensen is in Mayo Bros' hospital in Rochester, Minn., for an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lavey and daughter, Betty Jane, of Milwaukee, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo McViear and children, of Salem were guests at the Fred Lavey home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Jackson entertained the following friends Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Edward VanAlstine, of Waukegan, Mr. Victor Dine, of Round Lake, Ill., Mrs. Elsie Rose, of Kenosha, Mr. Ed. Dixon, of Racine and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Patrick.

Mrs. O. A. Hill visited Mrs. Samuel Knapp several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Krohn and sons and Miss Sadie Hebard and Miss Viola Schultz spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Hebart in Kenosha. The occasion being Mrs. Hebart's birthday.

Mrs. Wm. Steffin passed the week end with her daughter, Miss Esther Steffin in Hillsdale, Ill.

Mrs. Samuel Knapp entertained the following ladies at a Vanishing Tea: Mrs. Clarence Williams, Mrs. Ernest Knapp, Miss Krueger, Mrs. Lucy Hollister, Mrs. Louis Wienke, Mrs. Eleanor Jones, Mrs. Evan Jones and Mrs. Louis Pofahl, on Wednesday. Delicious refreshments were served.

Our 29 cent coffee can't be beat. Fresh fruits and vegetables at The Antioch Cash and Carry Grocery.

It is reported that Andrew Hansen is expected home soon from Denmark where he has been spending several weeks. He may bring a bride.

News of the death of Carl Fox, who resided in California, was received Monday by relatives. He was killed Sunday in an automobile accident. He is a brother of Miss Ruby Fox and nephew of Frank and Edward Fox. He is about forty years old.

Mrs. Lola Laursen gave her little daughter, Lorraine, aged five years, a golden birthday party Saturday afternoon, February 5th. The date of the birthday occurring on the corresponding number of year old, occurs only once in a lifetime. She received many presents. A beautiful dinner was served at six o'clock to the party.

Mrs. Ward Rowbottom will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society Thursday afternoon. Also the Help-U-Club Friday afternoon.

Sandwiches, hot drinks or ice cream at Nixon's Candy Shop, Antioch.

William Lewis is doing inside decorating at the Serum Plant residence in Woodworth.

The death of John Jones, occurred last Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Griffith where he has been staying for several weeks. He died at the age of 81 years. Funeral was held Saturday.

The following were guests at the D. L. Burgess home last week: Geo. Eli, Mrs. A. Burgess, Mrs. Reed, from Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Pierce, Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Turner, from Somers; Miss Angeline Tight and John Tight, from Brighton; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Remer and Miss Lois Nentway, from Kenosha.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gethen were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crosby in Kenosha, Monday afternoon.

The Bristol Epworth League will hold an American Patriotic Party in Bristol Hall, Friday evening, Feb. 12th. A good time is promised to all who attend.

MILLBURN

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Webb attended the funeral of his uncle, James Gerred, in Waukegan last Saturday. Mr. Geo. Edwards is slowly recovering from his recent sickness.

Miss Rubie Gillings is spending a few weeks with her brother, L. E. Gillings.

Several from this vicinity attended the Farmers' Institute at Antioch, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonner spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Beaumont, of Kansasville, Wis.

Miss Lillian Strohal is spending a few weeks in Chicago visiting relatives.

Mrs. F. G. Edwards has been spending the week with her mother, Mrs. Kaluf, of Druce's Lake, who had an operation on her eye last Tuesday.

Mr. Earl Slocum, of Marengo, spent Sunday with his parents here. Col. Slocum is on the sick list.

F. G. Edwards moved Elmer Jack's household goods to Chicago by truck on Saturday.

There will be a social meeting of the men of the church and community at the parsonage on Friday evening, Feb. 11, 1927.

The Ladies' Aid will serve dinner at the church, Feb. 10. There will be sewing for the afternoon.

Naturally

When a girl engages herself to wed a poet, it is usually a mark of impracticability. Mary, however, showed that she had a level head on her shoulders when she announced her engagement to her employer. "So you're going to marry a poet?" he said. "Then I suppose you'll leave me." "Oh, no," Mary protested. "I don't intend to leave. But I'll need more salary."

No Tobacco Substitute

There is no dried weed, leaf or herb that can be smoked that will take the place of tobacco in any sense. It is possible to smoke any of the weeds or plants, but they will not have the flavor or aroma of tobacco.

Stiff Locks

Locks that are stiff and hard to turn should be oiled with a feather dipped in good machine oil. Insert the feather through the keyhole and twist from side to side. This oils the parts and loosens them.

KNOW ILLINOIS!

Illinois has the fewest divorces per capita of states east of the Mississippi River.

Street car fares in Illinois average 7.1 cents, which is almost one-half cent lower than the average for the United States.

Illinois ranks fourth in number of inventors, according to Patent Office figures for 1926.

Engineers estimate that Chicago's waste of fuel in smoke and soot is sufficient to heat Rockford.

Illinois ranks second of inland states in value of exports, according to the United States Department of Commerce.

Chicago has the only factory in America producing hand-made accordions.

The average annual income per family in Illinois is $1,543, according to the United States Department of Labor. This is higher than the national average.

The value of fine art objects in Illinois exceeds $13,500,000.

$500 IN DEBT—
AND A BIG SUCCESS!

WHAT do you know of Timber Lake, in South Dakota? William Chapel most likely didn't know much more about it than you do, when he went there from Minnesota, five hundred dollars in debt! But this is what he says of it today:

"It is an opportunity to make five dollars to one dollar where I came from. Milk production here is the best paying business on the farm."

He has 350 acres under plow—and owns them! Grows wheat, oats, corn, millet, potatoes. Raises hogs, cows, sheep, chickens and turkeys. In his garden he has everything he needs.

"We have daily mail service," says Mr. Chapel, "good markets, roads, schools, churches and neighbors. Water is the finest to be had, and at small expense. Lignite coal can be had within a few miles, and is all the fire we use."

If you want to know more about South Dakota, North Dakota or Montana, and its fine opportunities for industrious farmers, write Mr. H. F. Hunter, Agricultural Agent, C. M. & St. P. Rwy., Room 796, Union Station, Chicago, Ill.

Allendale School

Allendale Farm School, Lake Villa

Plans are being made to handle the District Tournament to be held at Allendale gym on March 4 and 5. New blanchers capable of seating 250 people will be installed within the next week. About 16 teams are expected to compete for the title. Entries have been received from Wauconda, Libertyville, Lake Villa, Waukegan, North Chicago, and each day brings in new inquiries.

The Allendale team this season is the smallest that have ever represented the school. The squad averages about 120 pounds.

Tomorrow night (Friday), Allendale plays at Antioch in a preliminary game for the Antioch-Wauconda game.

The Allendale band of 25 pieces is rounding into shape and the coming summer will find them in many concerts. The boys play at all home games of the Allendale team.

On Friday and Saturday, Feb. 25, and 26, Allendale will make their annual two-day basket ball tour. Although plans are as yet incomplete, it is their intention to play at Waukegan Friday afternoon, Lake Forest Friday night, Evanston Junior high school Saturday afternoon and Evanston Y. M. C. A., Saturday night. About twelve players will make the trip and will probably stay at Evanston over night.

On Monday evening the Lake Villa town team defeated the Hurd's Toggery team of Union Grove, Wis., by a score of 36 to 16 at Allendale gym.

Next Monday evening Lake Villa play Fort Sheridan Soldiers. There will be a preliminary game, which will include one of the Allendale teams.

True Distinction

The Most Beautiful Sedan in Chevrolet History!

A masterly example of the coachmaker's art, the Chevrolet Sedan with its Body by Fisher reveals a distinction usually found only on the costliest custom-built creations. It is literally true that no four-door enclosed car, priced so low, ever exhibited such marvelous beauty of line and color.

It is finished in rich Marine Blue Duco, gold striped, and its handsome proportions are emphasized by new full-crown one-piece fenders and bullet-type lamps. In addition it offers the host of improvements which helped make the Most Beautiful Chevrolet the greatest sensation of America's greatest industry. AC air cleaner, AC oil filter, large 17-inch steering wheel, new frame-mounted tire carrier, gasoline gauge and many, many others.

Come in! You need only to see this new supremely beautiful and mechanically finer sedan to realize what amazing value it represents at its greatly reduced price.

GIANT LOGGER LURES LOVERS BY "WANT ADS"

Federal Agents Arrest "Annie Shusterich," Who Answered "Wife Seekers"

Portland, Ore.—Miss Annie Shusterich, a woman who has been luring men to her by means of "want ads" in the local papers, was arrested by federal agents here today. She was found in the person of a giant Russian logger, Leo J. Gels.

Gels was arrested in an Oregon coast logging camp by a deputy United States marshal on a charge of answering "wife wanted" advertisements in matrimonial papers and extracting money out of prospective husbands for the stated purpose of paying railway fare. Each time "Annie" received her $50 she penned a receipting answer, telling the duped male that "she" was a crook and advising him not to wait for his wife.

Sent "Photo" Along. With the answer to the advertisement a photograph of a very snappy-looking, bobbed-haired smiling girl was sent as an advance sample of what the husband would get in return for the $50 railway fare.

One letter attributed to the logger was scrutinized as follows: "You want age twenty-two but my age is twenty-one. Cream white complexion, dark brown hair, blue eyes, weight 120 pounds; small in shoulders, broad in hips and not skirting no place. Five feet 4 inches. I do not paint my face and do not go crazy over dimes. I remain with love and kisses. MISS ANNIE SHUSTERICH. "P. S. I will not correspond just for pass time with no one or wait ten years for photo. I want to get married."

It was explained in one letter that Annie was a German-American girl living in Portland. She worked in a 10-cent store and was a good cook.

"They Have 'Annie' in Jail."

and housekeeper. She asked one victim to "call me your baby love." Gels is a blond giant, about forty-five years old, weighing about 300 pounds and looking as strong as he is large.

Mailed "Receipt." When the cash was received this letter was mailed:

"Dear Sir: We inform you that we are a crook. All we wanted to get was the money and we got $50 out of you. Thank you for the money, but we are honest enough to let you know not to wait for me, as I will never come. I got the money out of not only you and I am going away because I might get in a trouble as few men are looking for me in Portland and other place. If I don't move I may do time behind iron bars. I stalled you off for a week, as I wanted to get some money from two more naps. Your sweetheart."

Gels pleaded not guilty. According to federal officers he has served 13 months in McNell Island for counterfeiting and 13 months in Walla Walla (Wash.) penitentiary for burglary.

Kills Farmer and Wife and Kidnap Daughter

New Bloomfield, Pa.—A demented farm hand beat to death his employer and wife when they refused his demands for money, and then kidnaped their daughter.

The victims were George D. Shull, sixty years old, a former prothonotary of Perry county, and his wife, Ella. Their alleged assailant, Paul Shaffer, seized Mrs. Elster Kell, who had been visiting her parents, dragged her into Shull's automobile and started away with her.

Something went wrong with the car. When the man got out to repair the trouble Mrs. Kell drove away and collapsed some time later, after colliding with a heavy truck.

"Gets Her Men"

Fort Myers, Fla.—Prisoners in the county jail will be careful hereafter. Mrs. V. B. Maynard, wife and chief deputy of the sheriff, like the royal northwest police, gets her men—or men. Three prisoners locked her in a cell and escaped. With a male deputy she chased them into the swamps of the Everglades and captured them. An 18 mile boat trip and then an auto ride and they were behind the bars again.

Gun-Toting Flapper Puzzle to Old Man

Rock Island, Ill.—Beyond understanding are the ways of a woman, at least the ways of the present-day "flapper," admits W. H. Mahoney of this city.

Mr. Mahoney was sleeping peacefully in his home when the door of his bedroom opened, awakening him, and a girl of sixteen, lithe, slim, trim and bobbed-haired, tripped in.

Mr. Mahoney's mature judgment told him this was no dream girl. He is seventy-one years old.

"Listen, grandpa," she said, and she still smiled, "you do as I want and you're not hurt."

"Yes'm," said Mr. Mahoney. "But I got nothing you want. I'm only a poor old man."

The visitor was not listening. Gun in hand, she stepped behind the door with Mr. Mahoney's clothes. Soon she emerged clad in his garments and with his cash in her hand. Then she forced Mr. Mahoney to chop off all the locks she showed beneath his cap, which she was wearing.

"I've been out drinking lunch all evening, have had a devil of a time, and must get away," the visitor chattered merrily. "My boy friend and I are going to hop a freight. Good-night, grandpa."

Police are seeking Beulah Nichols. Her parents identified the clothes she left in Mahoney's room as hers. They said Beulah was given to the "movie" habit.

Adrift 3 Months on Sea, Six Sailors Are Rescued

Manila, P. I.—After drifting in a disabled motor boat for more than three months in the south seas six young sailors from a fishing island, a Dutch possession south of Java, were brought to Manila aboard the steamer Shurruca, following their rescue off the coast of Mindanao Island.

Originally a party of 12, they left Cebu last July for the neighboring island of Sulu in sail merchandise and take gifts to a couple about to be married here. On the return trip the engine broke down and a heavy gale blew them far off their course. The food supply dwindled until nothing was left but rice. They managed to exist on this until November 1, when six of them died.

After drifting from July 25 to November 10, the six were picked up by an inter-island steamer off the coast of Mindanao and taken to Surabago, the northernmost tip of the island, from where they embarked for Manila.

Things They See

Hinsdale, Miss.—Follows who first thought their hunter friends were flaps now know that they were merely mistaken. There came tales of a black deer running loose. It has been identified as a goat that escaped from a farm.

Deer Swim to Safety as Dogs Fight on Shore

White Plains, N. Y.—Automobilists passing Croton lake, in the northern part of Westchester county, recently witnessed an unusual race between two deer which had been chased through the Croton hills to the lake by five dogs.

The deer fled down a steep bank and, jumping into the lake, headed for the opposite shore. The dogs got into a fight among themselves and by the time they jumped into the lake to continue the chase the deer had disappeared in the deep underbrush.

The dogs tried to pick up the trail but failed.

Men and women live longer now than did those of half a century ago. The life span has been increased by 17 years. The gain is the result of knowledge.—Detroit News.

Small Source of Supply

The world's supply of balsam of Peru, used in perfumes and medicines, all comes from a ten-acre grove of trees in Central America, known as the Balsam grove.

Waste in Gold Beating

Only about 700 out of every 1,000 gold leaves that are beaten are perfect enough to put on sale in spite of the expert care of the goldbeater.

Triumph in Adversity

If adversity are wrought the works of greatest admiration, and all the fair examples of renown out of distress and misery are grown.—Daniel.

Righteousness First

So I like life, and I like righteousness; if I cannot keep the two together, I will let life go and choose righteousness.—Mencius.
